At Opposite End of Perimeter, Negro Troops Counter-Attack

FIGHT FOR RIDGE Strategic Sobuksan Height Changes Hands For 7th Time

TOKYO, Aug. 30.—(INS)—American-aided South Korean defenders held on grimly today against new assaults toward the partly surrounded east coast port of Pohang by thousands of Reds who recaptured Kigye.

At the opposite end of the 120-mile Korean perimeter, U. S. Negro troops were counter-attacking in an attempt to regain blood-spattered Sobuksan Ridge, 35 miles west of all-important Pusan.

The strategic height, also known as Battle Mountain, changed hands for the seventh time in ten days when Communist forces recaptured the peak Tuesday night.

Along the upper shoulder of the United Nations defense triangle, South Korean troops were withstanding pressure 16 miles northeast of pivotal Taegu after being forced back into small new retreats.

In the central sector, U. S. Second Division artillery and infantry repulsed three attempts by the Red Fourth Division to get boatloads of troops across to the Nakdong River's east bank Tuesday night. These actions occurred west of Yongsan, about 28 miles below Taegu.

On the south front, MacArthur announced the invaders were "continuing" their "determined" thrusts against the U. S. 25th Division's positions defending the Masan western gateway to the chief entry port of Pusan.

In this area, the communists said, the Reds made "six separate attacks" in the 48 hours up until about midday Wednesday. Four of

Girl Drowns in Shallow Water in Assisunk Creek

BURLINGTON, Aug. 30.—Rescue units from the Bucks County Marine Association were called to Burlington yesterday in a vain attempt to save a 17-year-old girl from drowning.

Other rescue squads from Roanoke, Florence, Mt. Holly and Delanco—all from New Jersey—took part in the operations. The girl, Sadie B. Rogers, of 204 Laumaster street, Burlington, was pronounced dead at 4 p. m. when grapplers discovered her body.

The young girl was wading in the shallow waters of Assisunk creek, about 10 feet from shore, when she stepped into a hole and sank over her head.

Two small boys saw the girl go down and they notified Mrs. Eva Adams of 409 Jones street, who called police.

The girl came here two months ago from Bennettville, S. C., to make her home with her sister, Mrs. Elsie Baker.

Unsuccessful Attempt To Rob Bintliff Station

EDGELEY, Aug. 30.—Sometime between 12:30 and 7 a. m. today thieves broke into the Bintliff Brothers gas station on Route 13 and Edgely avenue, but apparently nothing was stolen.

Chief of Township Police Joseph Seader was called in this morning when Howard Bintliff, one of the partners, opened the station and saw that a window had been broken during the night.

Bintliff said that the station closed at 12 last night, and the attendants left about a half-hour later. A quick inventory showed that the thieves did not take anything. Chief Seader says that the intruders were probably frightened away.

The week before Carango's gas station, at Haines road and route 13, was broken into but nothing was taken.

Wet Highways During Storm Periods Blamed for Pennel Accident; Also for Crash Causing Heavy Damage to Two Vehicles at Street Road and Bristol Pike, Bensalem Township — William Gross and Nicholas Disler Are Injured.

Electrical storms which occurred throughout yesterday afternoon and last evening, with terrific downpours in some parts of lower Bucks county, are blamed to an extent for a fatal accident near Pennel, and considerable damage to two automobiles which crashed in Bensalem township. Residents of the sixth ward were involved in the Bensalem crash. Another accident, between Hulmeville and Newportville, involved drivers from Newportville and Bristol township.

The dead: William Rogers, 28, of the U. S. Navy, stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Rogers died 1½ hours after the accident, death being due to internal injuries.

The scene of the accident was on U. S. Route 1 (Lincoln highway), ½-mile west of Pennel, it occurring at 5:50 last evening. The car in which Rogers was riding was driven by another navy man, James M. McGlynn, 26, of Wilkes-Barre, also stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

According to state police of Langhorne barracks, the car skidded on the wet paving, hurtled off the highway, over an embankment and overturned. McGlynn was uninjured.

Rogers was taken to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, where he died at 7:20. Bucks County Rescue Squad, Croydon, transported him.

Police state that technical charge of involuntary manslaughter will be lodged against McGlynn before Justice of the Peace Sergeant, Middletown township.

At 7:30 last evening a coupe driven by George W. Duffield, of North-east Village, Philadelphia, is believed to have skidded when halting at a "stop" sign on the wet highway where Street road intersects Bristol Pike. A car operated by Paul Cervellero, of 1609 Wilson avenue, Bristol, which was traveling west on Route 13, was involved in a crash with the Duffield machine.

HELD ON MARIHUANA CIGARETTE CHARGE

Albert Kohen, Trenton, Is Held Without Bail At Doylestown

ARRESTED BY SEADER

A 19-year-old Trenton, N. J., youth is being held without bail in the county jail at Doylestown on charges of possessing and attempting to sell marihuana cigarettes.

He is Albert Kohen, 11 Whitehorse avenue, Trenton, who was arrested at Bristol Terrace II, on Aug. 11 by Chief of Bristol Township Police Joseph Seader.

Chief Seader said that on Aug. 10 a complaint came in from the Terrace that a young man was trying to peddle the "reefers." The following morning Seader went to the Terrace and was told that the youth was asleep in a parked car nearby.

While Seader was talking with his informant the youth walked by and the chief stopped him for questioning. Chief Seader said he then searched Kohen and found six marihuana cigarettes on him. Fourteen others which the defendant was reported to have in his car were not found, the chief said.

Seader said that Kohen told him he had thrown them into a creek. The youth was reported selling the "reefers" for $1.25 apiece.

Treasury agents from the narcotics division in Philadelphia were called into the case. Seader reports that the boy made a full confession to the authorities. The Treasury men are still continuing the investigation to learn where the "reefers" came from.

Kohen is being held for the next session of court.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Leon A. Clark, 19, driver of the car which on May 27th struck James A. Clardy at Washington and Pond streets, whose injuries resulted fatally, was yesterday held for the Grand Jury in Philadelphia. Clardy died May 31st. Clark was to post bail here this morning for his appearance in Philadelphia when called as Clardy died in the Nazareth Hospital in Philadelphia.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Klerman
(Distributed by International News Service)

Although the Government is operating the railroads it is not necessary to salute the conductor.

And except in extraordinary circumstances he will continue to call "all aboard" and not "fall in."

The purpose of seizing the railroads is to enable employees to work while striking. . . . This is a nice arrangement under which everyone continues to labor for the same wage he is against taking any longer.

There was only one hitch in the changeover from private to Government operation. . . . Seven railroad presidents had to get the buttons moved on their Eisenhower jackets.

For the moment they are all colonels, responsible to the commander-in-chief and the union generals.

But there is no truth to the report that new Diesels are coming out with bugles and turret guns.

The public will notice hardly any difference in the operation of the roads and commuters are requested not to refer to themselves as "evacuee."

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANNED BY SCRIBES

Presenting a report for the agricultural committee before Pineville Grange, at Wrightstown, Friday, Joseph S. Parry declared that a really good farmer will strive for the improvement of his soil whether or not he receives subsidies through the Farm Credit Administration. It is to the advantage of the farmer, said Mr. Parry, to lime and fertilize his soil, and the real down to earth farmer will not wait for government assistance to see that his soil is put in a productive condition.

Highlighting the meeting was the obligation of three candidates into the third and fourth degrees by S. Wilfred Smith. They are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Warner, Furlong, and Robert Anderson, of Wrightstown.

The report of the legislative committee was given by Augustus Raffetto who commented upon the proposed increase in taxes since the outbreak of the war in Korea. He questioned how the government will fare in a financial way because of the huge sums spent in the war effort.

Representatives of the home economics committee announced that a plant exchange and an arrangement of flowers in kitchen containers will be held in connection with the meeting of Lower Bucks Pomona Grange, No. 22, at Tyro Hall Grange, Buckingham, on Sept. 6th. Charles Derr and Mr. and Mrs. Derr will be in charge.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A message alleged to have been written by 38 American officers imprisoned in North Korea and asking for the immediate withdrawal of United States forces was presented to the United Nations Security Council by the Soviet Union. Observers were inclined to doubt the authenticity of the message. The Council accepted a Russian proposal to consider Communist China's charges of United States aggression against Formosa after the Korean issue had been settled but refused to invite Peiping now to take part in the discussion.

President Truman, to clarify why he had directed General MacArthur to withdraw a message to a veterans' convention, sent a copy of the letter in which the President had defined this country's Formosa policy. The President praised General MacArthur's conduct of the Korean campaign.

The Western Big Three Foreign Ministers will seek to coordinate their policies toward the Kremlin when they meet in New York city on September 12th.

President Truman will tell the nation by radio, probably on Friday night, what the economic demands arising from the Korean situation mean to each citizen.

THE ENEMY AT HOME Chapter Three

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(INS)—Soviet Russia's long range program for world conquest has included the development of the greatest espionage system in all history.

That system is operating today in the United States, the number one target of the Communist offensive.

Hundreds of American Communists have been trained for espionage and sabotage in schools in Red Russia and are now back in the United States on key assignments to further the Communist conspiracy.

The effectiveness of this training and the revolutionary tactics taught are now a matter of official record.

ONLY SIX PERCENT OF BUCKS COUNTY CHILDREN WILL FIND ADEQUATE SCHOOL FACILITIES AT OPENING

By CHARLES H. BOEHM
(Superintendent of Bucks County Schools)

Only six percent of Bucks County's children who will return to public schools next week will find adequate, modern and uncrowded classrooms. For forty years Bucks public school accommodations have become increasingly inadequate. While the lack of school facilities is a nationwide problem, caused generally because there has been a lack of new buildings erected since 1930, Bucks County's situation has been developing since 1910. A county survey recently completed indicates that the coming term finds the school facilities crowded to a greater degree than at any previous time. The influx of more residents and the increased number of children born in the county have aggravated in many instances, already overcrowded facilities. Two weeks ago it was thought that there would be 1500 children on half session. Since then, Bensalem has placed over 400 on half session and two other townships have indicated that they also may have to place children on half sessions.

Paul L. Gruber, assistant county superintendent reported that 38% of the county's public school children are in standard but overcrowded buildings and another 20% in sub-standard rooms such as basements and corridors. Sixteen percent of the school population, all of whom are in high school, do not have adequate facilities for a modern program.

Seven percent of the pupils are in obsolete buildings, a number of them being old school houses which had previously been discarded.

Four percent of the school children, some 800 pupils, will be

BIBBLE GUM FOLLIES

The first "world championship" bubble gum blowing contest has been held at Riverview Beach, N. J.

Alas, the times and the customs! That it has come to this—the glorification of this insidious habit of youngsters chewing a wadful of gum and blowing the residuum into a large balloon that eventually bursts amid guffaws.

In this particular contest, finalists from three states competed for the dubious honors. And what happens to the "lucky" child who can blow the largest and most sustained bubble? What does the future hold for the kid?

Actually, chewing gum did not start in our times. The ancient historian, Plutarch, in 100 A. D. wrote about chewing gum. Here, in this new world, the Spanish invaders found the Aztecs chewing chicle. A U. S. patent on chewing gum was granted in 1899.

Gum chewing is described as a harmless habit that relaxes the nerves and is beneficial to the teeth. At least, the gum companies claim that. But what can they claim for the bubble variety of gum?

There is value of swimming contests, pushmobile derbies, and BB gun tournaments. There's even some fun in freckle counting and Mark Twain made frog hopping famous. But bubble gum!

SUCKERS FOR PETITIONS

It has been charged the average American will put his name to a petition without taking the trouble to find out what it is all about. In an experiment it was discovered signers could be easily obtained to petitions calling for the execution of all those whose names were appended.

Recently millions of Americans signed a so-called "peace petition," definitely inspired and circulated by communists. The petition condemned this nation's part in developing the A-bomb, and otherwise disparaged the U. S. in comparison with Russia.

Investigation by federal authorities brought to light many and varied reasons given by those who had signed this blast against their own country. Principal excuses were that the document had not been read, that the neighbors seemed to be in favor of it, that the person circulating the petition was so persistent "I signed to get rid of him."

Whatever the reasons for signing, the Soviet government was given the impression it had millions of friends in the United States who could be counted on in case of trouble.

Those who sign petitions without ascertaining that they are for purposes of which they approve are suckers. When they sign petitions circulated by Moscow, instead of booting the persons presenting them into the street, they prove themselves to be jugheads as well as poor citizens.

North Koreans are reported to be badly off balance. And more and more of them are suffering from lead poisoning.

Reds Outline Great Espionage System

record. They have been described in illuminating detail in sworn testimony by various ex-Communist witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee and other Government agencies.

Other evidence of the extent of the Soviet spy network is coming to light almost daily with the arrest by the FBI of additional members of the espionage ring.

As to the number of spies in the vast network, ex-Communist Joseph Kornfeder of Detroit testified:

"Where there are five Communists, it is safe to assume that at least one, if not more, is a Soviet spy. The Comintern therefore enjoys surveillance over every phase and aspect of life in practically every civilized and semi-civilized land on the globe."

Kornfeder was a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. He was a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States and served as trade union secretary on the party's national committee.

On the strength and organization of the Communist International, Kornfeder testified:

"Outside Russia, the Comintern now claims 1.6 million members scattered literally over the globe, with only Eskimos, Patagonians and a few primitive African and Asiatic tribes free of infiltration."

"The Comintern as such has naturally become the world's greatest and most far-flung espionage network. . . . A British Member of Parliament, an American labor leader, a Chinese peasant, a Hindu merchant or a South American artisan, if a Communist, may be a member or co-operate with the Soviet intelligence network."

"This special arm of the Soviet dictatorship is the most remarkable fifth column ever possessed by any great power in all history."

Kornfeder and other witnesses testified that thousands of Communists, including Americans, have been trained for espionage, sabotage and combat in the Lenin School in Moscow.

The training includes an intensive course in military organization taught by Red army officers. This course, Kornfeder said, begins "with the problem of organizing small combat groups" and extends to the organization of a "Red guard and transforming local Red guard organizations into regular army formations."

"The course," the witness continued, "includes problems involved in the capture of strategic government buildings, communication centers, and the destruction of select units upon which the government to be attacked could rely."

"It also includes the problem of forming, after capture, regular army formations, and the Allied problems of ballistics and military topography."

"Part of a course in practical training," Kornfeder testified, "included the handling of rifles, machine guns, hand grenades, small artillery and military transport."

"A course is also given in the handling of railway engines for the purpose of wrecking railway communications."

Upon completion of their training, Kornfeder said, students return to their home countries and are assigned to key jobs in the Communist party. Kornfeder himself was a graduate of the Lenin School.

Other such schools are maintained in Russia, the witness said. One at Leningrad specializes in training personnel for secret service in foreign countries, with emphasis on economic and military espionage.

A Child's First Days at School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

FOR most children who enter school for the first time in their lives the event is a joyous one. For a few, however, it is a painful ordeal. These few have been tied too close to their mothers and have not had adequate experience in doing for themselves what they could do in playing with other children of their own age and in settling their own quarrels and fighting their own battles on the home playground.

Some of these children have almost never been out of the sight and hearing of their mothers. Properly, the mother of any young child will go with him to school on his very first day to meet the teacher and present the child to her. But as soon as he meets a few other children she will go home with as little ceremony as possible. If the youngster cries after her, she will go anyway and, won't look back.

One of the Class

If she lingers long the child may cling to her and fail to become one of the class. When at last she tries to go, his sorrow may be greater than if she had gone early. Besides, he will want her to linger longer the next day.

She may find it very difficult to get him to go to school without her for an indefinite period.

Perhaps it were far better for the father or some other adult to go to school with this child for the first few mornings, than for the mother to go. It's very desirable on the first several mornings for this child to have the company of several other children, whether by car or on foot.

Leaves Promptly

Practically always, if the parent leaves promptly after arriving at the school with the child, the teacher can easily handle the situation with the result that the child soon adapts himself happily. Indeed, what the kindergarten or primary teacher most dislikes is for parents to linger after school begins.

Of course, there is occasionally a very extreme case in which the youngster will wail and cry for hours, and thus upset the entire class. This happens more often in the nursery department of Sunday schools. In such a case the wise teacher advises the parent to take the youngster home and keep him there for a week or two, gradually weaning him emotionally from her.

The program, which related to music, was in charge of the lecturer, Miss Margaret R. Slack.

Early history of the Trauger family was given at the annual reunion of that family (Trauger-Rufe) at Ferndale, during the weekend. It was compiled by Mrs. Reba Moyer, Perkaskie, and much of it was presented before more than 100 persons at the 17th annual gathering by Mrs. Dorcas Parks, also of Perkaskie, a niece of Mrs. Moyer. The gathering was held at historic Nockamixon church, Ferndale.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Moyer, former residents of Perkaskie, now living in Quakertown, qualified for an award for being the couple married the longest. They have observed their 51st wedding anniversary.

David Trauger, 80, Perkaskie, was presented an award for being the oldest person in attendance, and Mrs. Tetteimer, Erwinna, qualified for being the oldest woman at the reunion.

The following officers were elected: President, Lester Trauger, Perkaskie; vice-president, Grier Solliday, Perkaskie; secretary, Gloria Trauger, Bethlehem; assistant secretary, Ella Trauger, Quakertown, and treasurer, Stella Ealer, Easton. Anita Hollenbach, Perkaskie, was named pianist, and Kathryn Molletiere, Lansdale, director of music.

In five churches, in three residences, three firehouses, range or community halls, children's home.

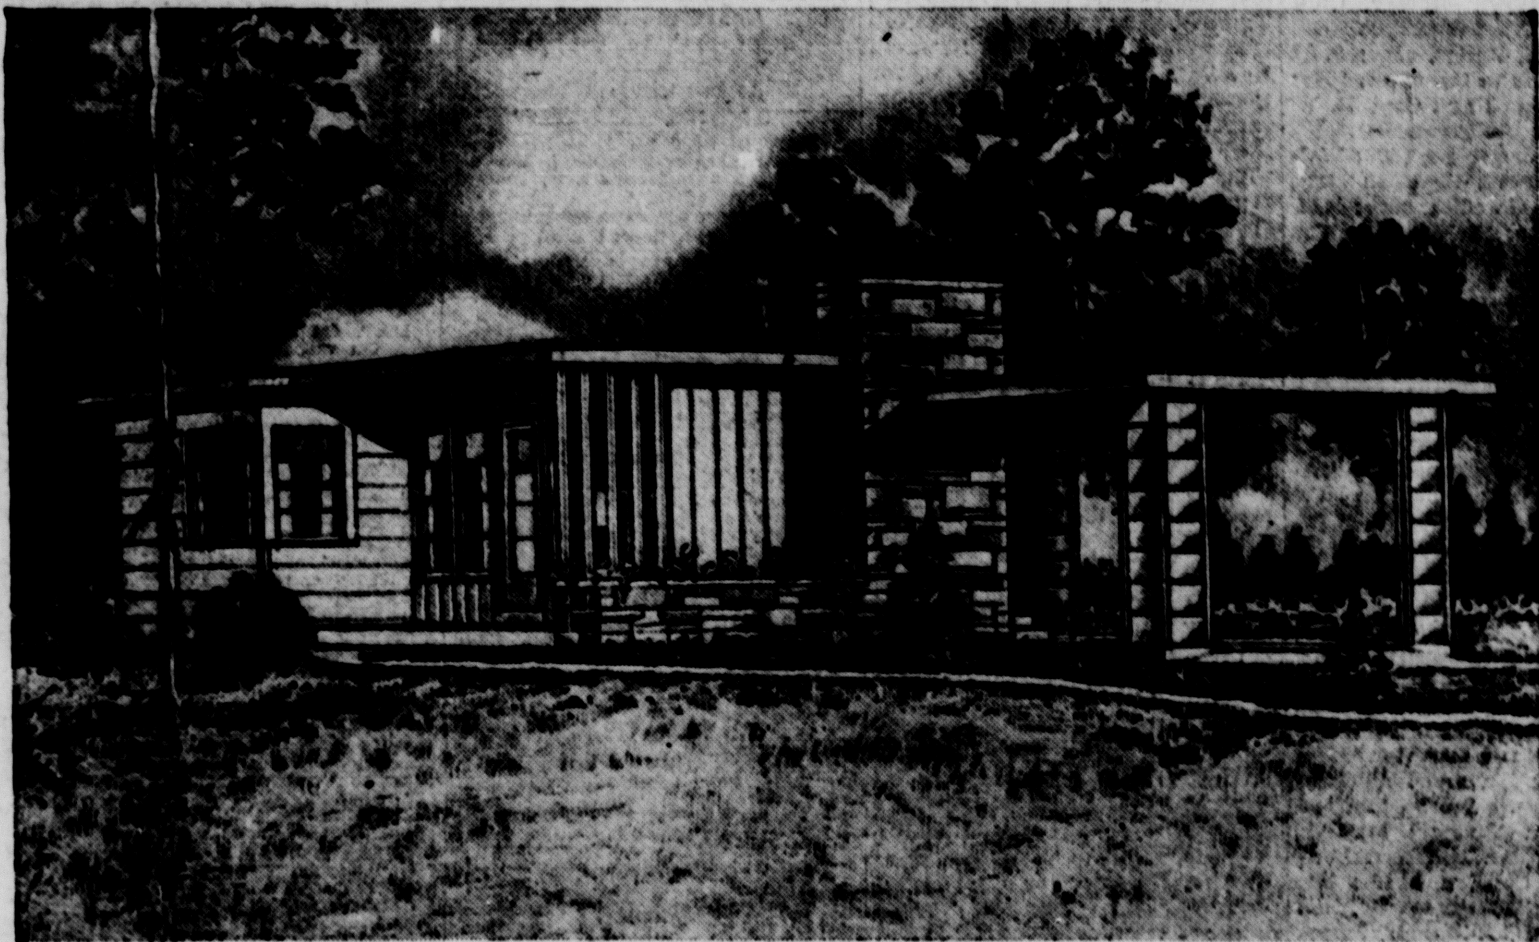

1369 of the county's 21,000 ill have satisfactory facilities, all of which will be elementary school. In recent school directors generally are aware of the seriousness of overcrowding as well as in-facilities, but the cost-borrowing power limitation percent on the real estate has prevented the erection of school buildings. Bucks has nearly $80,000,000 in its assessment but the State Education Board has set the value of the real estate at 900.

Sort to the use of the Public Building Authority to school buildings is necessary by the relative low real assessment in Bucks as elsewhere in the state. School Boards at they could borrow funds and one-half percent interest amount to be borrowed is too small for a modern school.

★ COZY AND MODERN ★

SOMETHING NEW and different that's 1950 news. Here's one of the many modern houses springing up all over the country these days. A smart combination of stone and frame. It has square, sharp lines. The interesting window treatment and car port add much to the exterior.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

ALL over the country, modern design seems to be making the big difference in home architecture. More and more these days, variations of the popular ranch house are springing up north, south, east and west.

Today's house has a look of tomorrow about it. Note its square, sharp lines; the smart combination of stone and frame; the interesting window treatment which adds so much to the exterior of a home.

This house looks large, yet inside there are only two bedrooms, a bath, kitchen and living room. Both bedrooms are large enough to accommodate twin beds. Each has a good-sized closet and three windows, insuring adequate ventilation.

The living room features a large fireplace and a built-in shelf for books. It's quite big enough to house a dining space. The kitchen is efficiently arranged to take the wear and tear out of cooking chores. The bath has a linen storage closet.

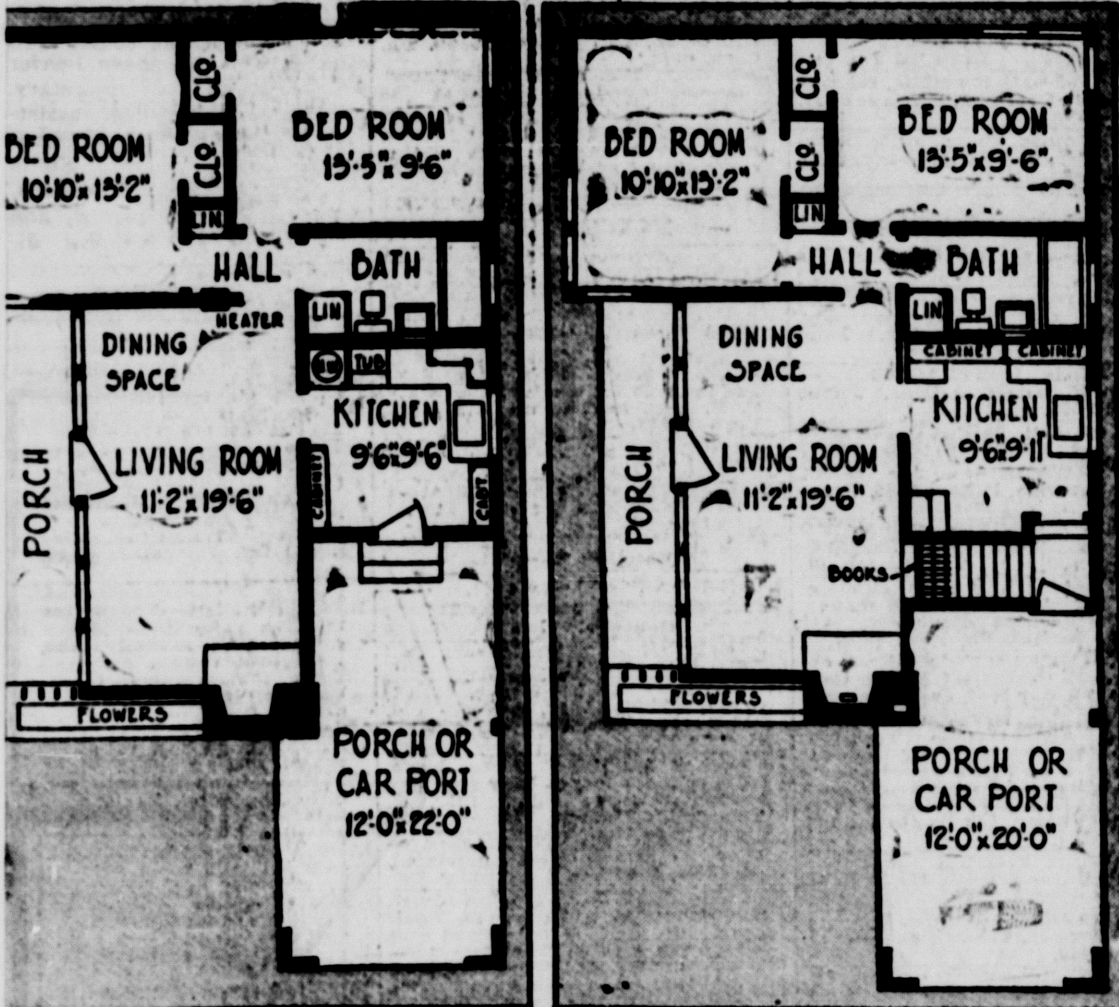

The car port is more adaptable to milder climates. If desired, it may be screened and used as a porch.

An economy note in this house is that all plumbing is confined to one wall, a cost-saving feature.

The house comprises 15,000 cubic feet if built with a basement; 9,430 cubic feet, without a basement.

An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this is the house for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The Downs."

To arrive at a general estimate of the construction cost of this house, ascertain construction costs per cubic foot in your locality, then multiply this by the number of cubic feet given here. The result should be within 10 per cent either way of the cost.

THE HOUSE without a basement, all rooms are sized. The living room features a fireplace.

PLANS FOR a house with basement provide a smaller car port that might be used as a porch.

24th Regiment off the peak.

But at dawn Wednesday the gal- lant 24th charged back into the sea- saw fray in yet another counter- attack designed to retake the ridge that commands the main road to Masan, nine miles eastward.

Outcome of this new counter- punch was not yet known when the mid-morning Wednesday commu- nique from U. S. Eighth Army field headquarters in Korea was an- nounced.

This bulletin said the Americans in the south were counter-attacking to regain 500 yards lost to the enemy during the night.

A noontime International News Service front dispatch said the 24th Regiment's comeback assault provoked a "heavy fire fight." It said other points of the 25th Division's south sector were quiet Wednesday morning, "as though watching the private fight between the 24th Regiment and the Reds who dug in after regaining the top of the ridge."

Four miles below Uihung above Taegu, the dispatch related, the South Korean Sixth Division re- pulsive a Tuesday midnight tank- led Red onslaught described in an INS front message as "believed of considerable size."

Here the Reds were attempting to plunge south beyond fallen Hwabondong and cave in the roof of the UN defense rectangle by driving a salient between Taegu and Pohang. Hwabondong is 37 miles west-northwest of Pohang and 16 north-northeast of Taegu, inland anchor of the Allied beach- head.

Captain J. G. Howell, USN (left), is greeted by the Executive Officer, CDR E. G. Mason, USNR, after reading his orders and assuming command of the Willow Grove Naval Air Station. Before assuming command of the air station Captain Howell was the Commanding Officer of the USS VALCOUR, a seaplane tender. During World War II, he was Executive Officer aboard the KASABAN BAY, an Escort Carrier operating in the Mediterranean during the invasion of Southern France and then later in the Pacific.

Many local men are attached to Organized Naval Air Reserve Squadrons based at the air station.

chine. The two cars were heavily damaged and both were towed from the scene, according to state police of Langhorne barracks. Police state that occupants, including Mrs. Cervellero and son, Edward As- sanowicz, were shaken up but not otherwise hurt.

Two cars crashed head-on yesterday afternoon on Newportville road, between Newportville and Hulmeville, injuring both drivers and considerably damaging the two vehicles.

The injured are: William A. Gross, of 5 Venice avenue, Bristol township, and

Nicholas Disler, Newportville road, Newportville.

According to Chief of Bristol Township Police Joseph Seader, Disler had received a call saying that his wife was involved in an accident near Parkland on route 1.

He was driving to the scene of the accident when the crash with Gross' car occurred near the home of Edgar A. Smith. Gross was on his way home from Hulmeville.

The two drivers were taken to Harriman Hospital by Chief Seader where Disler was treated for bruised ribs, internal injuries, brush burns of the back and contusions of the left elbow. Gross suffered a wrenched back. Both men will be X-rayed today to de- termine any further extent of in- juries.

Chief Seader estimated damage to the cars as totaling $400.

Lightning Strikes Poles; Harm To Electric Service

The electrical storm which struck Bucks County and other parts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, yesterday afternoon followed a general path from Oxford to New Hope.

Most damage to lines of Philadelphia Electric Company was centered in the Doylestown area, but minor interruptions were reported in Bristol and Newtown sectors.

At various spots along the path of the storm, tree limbs were blown down; and in the section between Oxford and New Hope eight to 10 poles were struck by lightning. It is reported.

Crews of Philadelphia Electric Co. workmen were called out, there being about 100 lines affected throughout the path of the storm.

BUBBLE GUM FOLLIES

The first "world championship" bubble gum blowing contest has been held at Riverview Beach, N. J.

Alas, the times and the customs! That it has come to this—the glorification of this insidious habit of youngsters chewing a wadful of gum and blowing the residuum into a large balloon that eventually bursts amid guffaws.

In this particular contest, finalists from three states competed for the dubious honors. And what happens to the "lucky" child who can blow the largest and most sustained bubble? What does the future hold for the kid?

Actually, chewing gum did not start in our times. The ancient historian, Plutarch, in 100 A. D. wrote about chewing gum. Here, in this new world, the Spanish invaders found the Aztecs chewing chicla. A U. S. patent on chewing gum was granted in 1899.

Gum chewing is described as a harmless habit that relaxes the nerves and is beneficial to the teeth. At least, the gum companies claim that. But what can they claim for the bubble variety of gum?

There is value of swimming contests, pushmobile derbies, and BB gun tournaments. There's even some fun in freckle counting and Mark Twain made frog hopping famous. But bubble gum!

SUCKERS FOR PETITIONS

It has been charged the average American will put his name to a petition without taking the trouble to find out what it is all about. In an experiment it was discovered signers could be easily obtained to petitions calling for the execution of all those whose names were appended.

Recently millions of Americans signed a so-called "peace petition," definitely inspired and circulated by communists. The petition condemned this nation's part in developing the A-bomb, and otherwise disparaged the U. S. in comparison with Russia.

Investigation by federal authorities brought to light many and varied reasons given by those who had signed this blast against their own country. Principal excuses were that the document had not been read, that the neighbors seemed to be in favor of it, that the person circulating the petition was so persistent "I signed to get rid of him."

Whatever the reasons for signing, the Soviet government was given the impression it had millions of friends in the United States who could be counted on in case of trouble.

Those who sign petitions without ascertaining that they are for purposes of which they approve are suckers. When they sign petitions circulated by Moscow, instead of booting the persons presenting them into the street, they prove themselves to be jugheads as well as poor citizens.

North Koreans are reported to be badly off balance. And more and more of them are suffering from lead poisoning.

record. They have been described in illuminating detail in sworn testimony by various ex-Communist witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee and other Government agencies.

Other evidence of the extent of the Soviet spy network is coming to light almost daily with the arrest by the FBI of additional members of the espionage ring.

As to the number of spies in the vast network, ex-Communist Joseph Kornfeder of Detroit testified:

"Where there are five Communists, it is safe to assume that at least one, if not more, is a Soviet spy. The Comintern therefore enjoys surveillance over every phase and aspect of life in practically every civilized and semi-civilized land on the globe."

Kornfeder was a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. He was a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States and served as trade union secretary on the party's national committee.

On the strength and organization of the Communist International, Kornfeder testified:

"Outside Russia, the Comintern now claims 16 million members scattered literally over the globe, with only Eskimos, Patagonians and a few primitive African and Asiatic tribes free of infiltration."

"The Comintern as such has naturally become the world's greatest and most far-flung espionage network. . . . A British Member of Parliament, an American labor leader, a Chinese peasant, a Hindu merchant or a South American artisan, if a Communist, may be a member or co-operate with the Soviet intelligence network."

"This special arm of the Soviet dictatorship is the most remarkable fifth column ever possessed by any great power in all history."

Kornfeder and other witnesses testified that thousands of Communists, including Americans, have been trained for espionage, sabotage and combat in the Lenin School in Moscow.

The training includes an intensive course in military organization taught by Red army officers. This course, Kornfeder said, begins "with the problem of organizing small combat groups" and extends to the organization of a "Red guard and transforming local Red guard organizations into regular army formations."

"The course," the witness continued, "includes problems involved in the capture of strategic government buildings, communication centers, and the destruction of select units upon which the government to be attacked could rely."

"It also includes the problem of forming, after capture, regular army formations, and the Allied problems of ballistics and military topography."

"Part of a course in practical training," Kornfeder testified, "included the handling of rifles, machine guns, hand grenades, small artillery and military transport."

"A course is also given in the handling of railway engines for the purpose of wrecking railway communications."

Upon completion of their training, Kornfeder said, students return to their home countries and are assigned to key jobs in the Communist party. Kornfeder himself was a graduate of the Lenin School.

Other such schools are maintained in Russia, the witness said. One at Leningrad specializes in training personnel for secret service in foreign countries, with emphasis on economic and military espionage.

A Child's First Days at School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

FOR most children who enter school for the first time in their lives the event is a joyous one. For a few, however, it is a painful ordeal. These few have been tied too close to their mothers and have not had adequate experience in doing for themselves what they could do in playing with other children of their own age and in settling their own quarrels and fighting their own battles on the home playground.

Some of these children have almost never been out of the sight and hearing of their mothers. Properly, the mother of any young child will go with him to school on his very first day to meet the teacher and present the child to her. But as soon as he meets a few other children she will go home with a little ceremony as possible. If the youngster cries after her, she will go anyway and, won't look back.

One of the Class

If she lingers long the child may cling to her and fail to become one of the class. When at last she tries to go, his sorrow may be greater than if she had gone early. Besides, he will want her to linger longer the next day.

This school turns out from 800 to 1,200 students a year.

These schools have been in operation for many years, with the result that today thousands of trained Communists are now at work in non-Communist countries—among them, of course, the United States.

Their one purpose is to work for world revolution, to overthrow their respective governments and, in the event of war with Russia, to help defeat their own governments and defend the Soviet Union.

Other witnesses, testifying in similar vein, told how students were taught to foment civil war and create dissension and confusion. They said that in guerrilla warfare practices they used maps of U. S. cities showing key installations.

(Tomorrow—Communist domination of American labor unions.)

Only 6% of Bucks Children Will Be Properly 'Schooled'

housed in five churches, in three private residences, three firehouses, three grange or community halls, and one children's home.

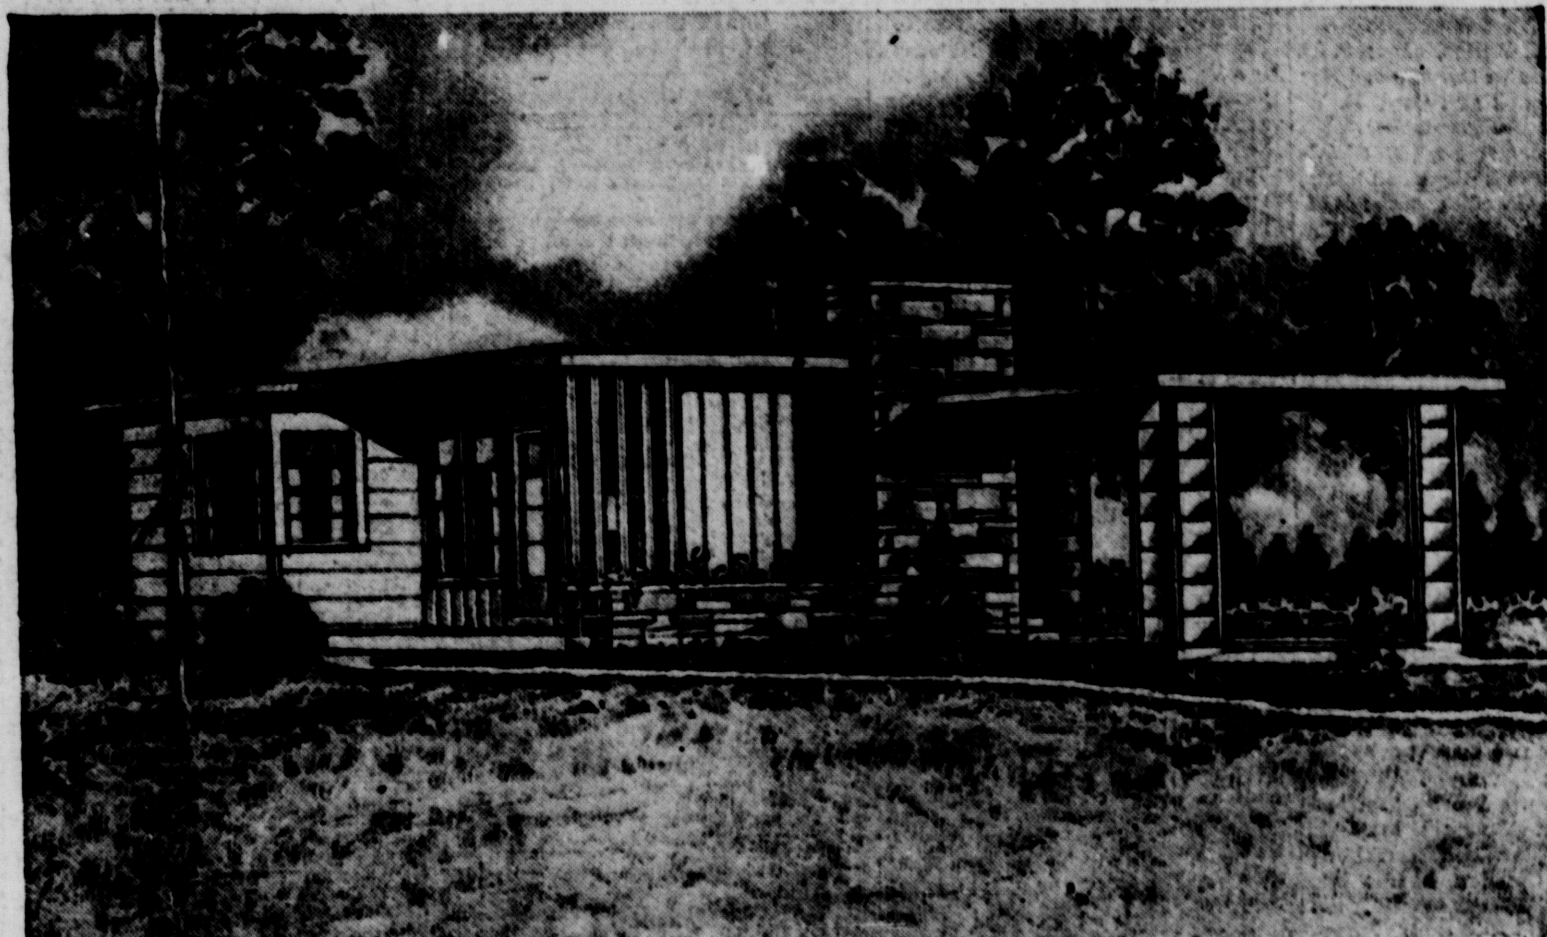

About 1300 of the county's 21,000 pupils will have satisfactory classroom facilities, all of which will be in the elementary school. In recent years, school directors generally have been aware of the seriousness of the overcrowded as well as inadequate facilities, but the constitutional borrowing power limitation of seven percent on the real estate assessment has prevented the erection of high school buildings. Bucks County has nearly $80,000,000 in real estate assessment but the State Tax Equalization Board has set the market value of the real estate at $20,000,000.

The resort to the use of the Public School Building Authority to erect new school buildings is necessitated by the relative low real estate assessment in Bucks as elsewhere in the state. School Boards admit that they could borrow funds at one and one-half percent interest but the amount to be borrowed would be too small for a modern high school.

COZY AND MODERN

SOMETHING NEW and different that's 1950 news. Here's one of the smart combination of stone and frame. It has square, sharp lines. The interesting window treatment and car port add much to the exterior.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

ALL over the country, modern design seems to be making the big difference in home architecture. More and more these days, variations of the popular ranch house are springing up north, south, east and west.

Today's house has a look of tomorrow about it. Note its square, sharp lines; the smart combination of stone and frame; the interesting window treatment which adds so much to the exterior of a home.

This house looks large, yet inside there are only two bedrooms, a bath, kitchen and living room. Both bedrooms are large enough to accommodate twin beds. Each has a good-sized closet and three windows, insuring adequate ventilation.

The living room features a large fireplace and a built-in shelf for books. It's quite big enough to house a dining space.

The kitchen is efficiently arranged to take the wear and tear out of cooking chores. The bath has a linen storage closet.

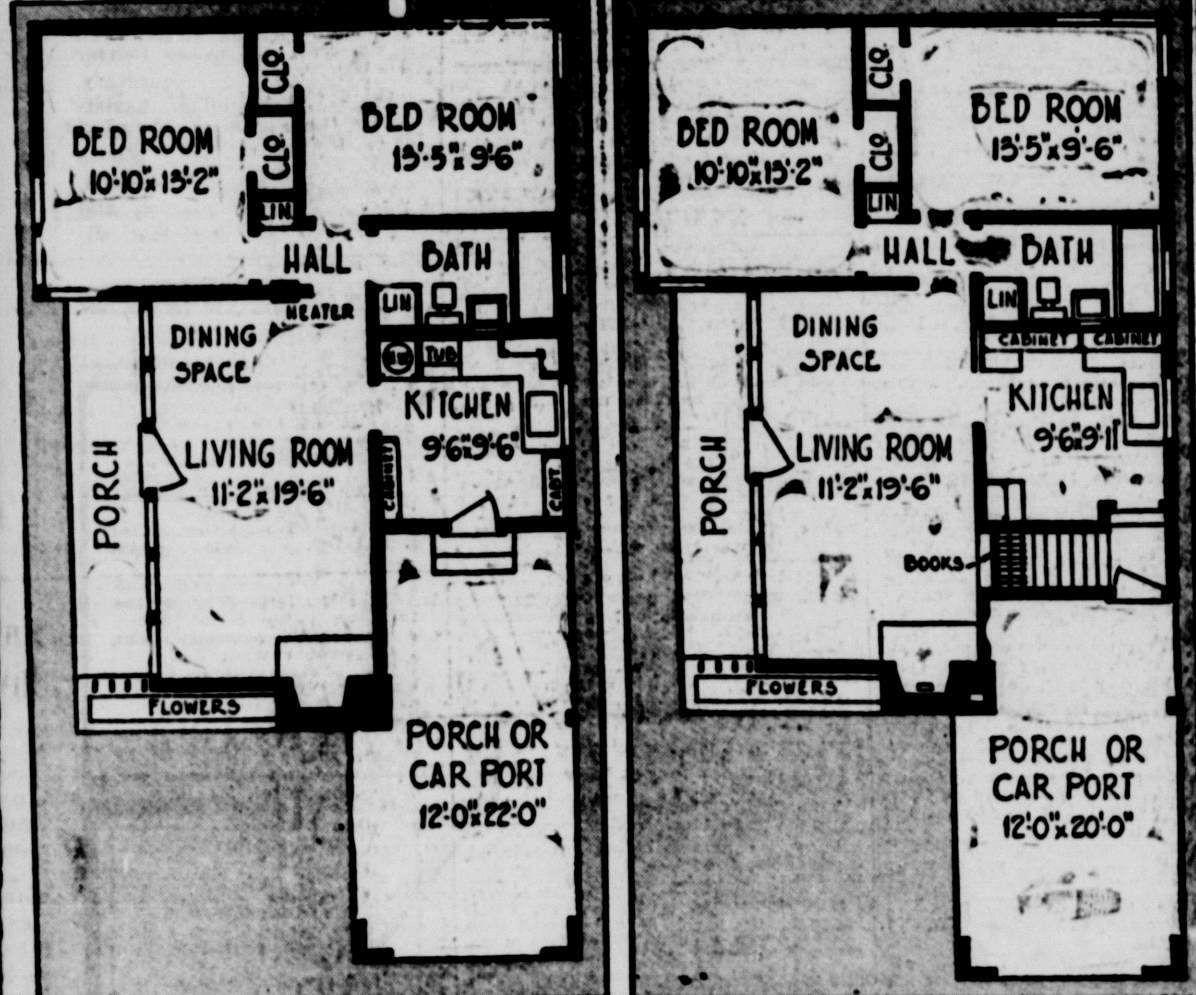

The car port is more adaptable to milder climates. If desired, it may be screened and used as a porch.

An economy note in this house is that all plumbing is confined to one wall, a cost-saving feature.

The house comprises 15,000 cubic feet if built with a basement; 9,430 cubic feet, without a basement.

An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this is the house for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The Downs."

To arrive at a general estimate of the construction cost of this house, ascertain construction costs per cubic foot in your locality, then multiply this by the number of cubic feet given here. The result should be within 10 per cent either way of the cost.

IN THE HOUSE without a basement, all rooms are good-sized. The living room features a fireplace. PLANS FOR a house with basement provide a smaller car port that might be used as a porch.

American-Aided South Koreans Hold Against Reds

These were "immediately repulsed," and the other two scored "minor penetrations" of U. S. company positions.

Both of these enemy wedges, the bulletin added, were subsequently reduced, and the U. S. positions restored." MacArthur told of considerable enemy movement throughout the Korean southern seaboard area.

Drives of Allied planes swarmed to the skies just before dawn Wednesday for daytime attacks in continuation of an air offensive now proceeding "round the clock."

Aircraft bombed, rocketed and strafed Red movements and supply units through the night Tuesday, for the first time they used flares to illuminate their targets.

These strikes followed more than 12 Tuesday sorties in which air forces reported knocking out 13 tanks and numerous other enemy vehicles and guns. A U. S. 5th Air Force spokesman called it "as good a day's results as we can remember."

South Korean warships were dispatched to have landed South Korean Marines northwest of Tongyeong on the Peninsula's south coast to lash to the lower flank of the augmented North Korean Sixth Division.

A Wednesday morning bulletin from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the landings Monday night "had the effect of confusing enemy troops, causing them to fight among themselves."

Twenty dead Communists were counted, while the Marines suffered no casualties.

During the same night a U. S. destroyer off the south coast sent star shells as it laid down a night-long bombardment of 17 Red troop concentrations, three artillery positions, three junctions and one vehicle concentration.

On Tuesday the same destroyer, closely supporting the U. S. 25th Division on the approaches to Mian and Pusan, was declared to have "wiped out" a Red troop concentration and dispersed another.

Seemingly heedless of such losses, the enemy's 6th Division troops lunged up Battle Mountain's rugged slopes and pushed the Negro 24th Regiment off the peak.

But at dawn Wednesday the gallant 24th charged back into the saw fray in yet another counter-attack designed to retake the ridge that commands the main road to Masan, nine miles eastward.

Outcome of this new counter-punch was not yet known when the mid-morning Wednesday communiqué from U. S. Eighth Army field headquarters in Korea was announced.

This bulletin said the Americans in the south were counter-attacking to regain 500 yards lost to the enemy during the night.

A nighttime International News Service front dispatch said the 24th Regiment's comeback assault provoked a "heavy fire fight." It said other points of the 25th Division's south sector were quiet Wednesday morning, "as though watching the private fight between the 24th Regiment and the Reds who dug in after regaining the top of the ridge."

Four miles below Uihung above Taegu, the dispatch related, the South Korean Sixth Division repulsed a Tuesday midnight tank-led Red onslaught described in an INS front message as "believed of considerable size."

Here the Reds were attempting to plunge south beyond fallen Hwabondong and cave in the roof of the UN defense rectangle by driving a salient between Taegu and Pohang. Hwabondong is 37 miles west-northwest of Pohang and 16 north-northeast of Taegu, inland anchor of the Allied beachhead.

Captain J. G. Howell, USN (left), is greeted by the Executive Officer, CDR E. G. Mason, USNR, after reading his orders and assuming command of the Willow Grove Naval Air Station. Before assuming command of the air station Captain Howell was the Commanding Officer of the USS VALCOUR, a seaplane tender. During World War II, he was Executive Officer aboard the KASABAN BAY, an Escort Carrier operating in the Mediterranean during the invasion of Southern France and then later in the Pacific.

Many local men are attached to Organized Naval Air Reserve Squadrons based at the air station.

chine. The two cars were heavily damaged and both were towed from the scene, according to state police of Langhorne barracks. Police state that occupants, including Mrs. Cervellero and son, Edward Asanowicz, were shaken up but not otherwise hurt.

Two cars crashed head-on yesterday afternoon on Newportville road, between Newportville and Hulmeville, injuring both drivers and considerably damaging the two vehicles.

The injured are: William A. Gross, of 5 Venice avenue, Bristol township, and

Nicholas Disler, Newportville road, Newportville.

According to Chief of Bristol Township Police Joseph Seader, Disler had received a call saying that his wife was involved in an accident near Parkland on route 1.

He was driving to the scene of the accident when the crash with Gross' car occurred near the home of Edgar A. Smith. Gross was on his way home from Hulmeville.

The two drivers were taken to Harriman Hospital by Chief Seader where Disler was treated for bruised ribs, internal injuries, bruise burns of the back and contusions of the left elbow. Gross suffered a wrenched back. Both men will be X-rayed today to determine any further extent of injuries.

Chief Seader estimated damage to the cars as totaling $400.

Lightning Strikes Poles; Harm To Electric Service

The electrical storm which struck Bucks County and other parts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, yesterday afternoon followed a general path from Oxford to New Hope.

Most damage to lines of Philadelphia Electric Company was centered in the Doylestown area, but minor interruptions were reported in Bristol and Newtown sec.ors.

At various spots along the path of the storm, tree limbs were blown down; and in the section between Oxford and New Hope eight to 10 poles were struck by lightning. It is reported.

Crews of Philadelphia Electric Co. workmen were called out, there being about 100 lines affected throughout the path of the storm.

Hospital Stay Fails To Dampen Anniversaries

For many weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanford, Bristol Terrace I, had looked forward to a celebration on August 28th of their 36th wedding anniversary and Mr. Sanford's birthday. But when Mr. Sanford was suddenly taken to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., a week ago, for examination and treatment that proved to be of several days' duration, it looked as if Monday, the 28th, would be a blue and empty day for the two of them, he in the hospital and she at home.

When Monday morning arrived, however, Mrs. Sanford was surprised to receive flowers, gifts and messages of congratulation from countless friends. A call to her husband in the hospital revealed that his room there was also filled to the brim with evidence of good wishes from their friends. The biggest thrill of all was when Mrs. Sanford received a bouquet and an extra-special card from Mr. Sanford, himself.

SEVERAL ST. ANN'S PLAYERS LEAD IN TRENTON LEAGUE

Several St. Ann's players are among the leaders in the various departments of the Trenton Industrial League. The "Saints" are leading the loop with 23 wins and 14 defeats.

Joe Elmer is leading the St. Ann's batters with a mark of .364. Joe has participated in 28 games and has garnered 32 hits in 88 times at bat, according to the latest batting averages released by Fred Scully.

Bert Barbetta is two points behind Elmer in batting. Bert has socked out two home runs and three triples. Williams and Bridgewater, of the Warriors, are leading in home runs with four each while Bert is tied with several players for the lead in triples.

"Lou" Mari, who has a batting average of .351, is leading the circuit in doubles with 10. "Jim" Bridgewater, of the Warriors, has nine two-baggers. Leading in stolen bases is Joe Tohlil, of the Pirates, "Rabbit" Palumbo, of the "Saints," is in second place with 21, while Jack Tarr, of the Pirates, has 19.

Fred Barbetta, with a .286 batting average, is second in runs batted in with 39. Williams, of the Warriors, has 31 runs batted in. The latter is also leading in hits with 51. Mari has 46 and Palumbo 44. Palumbo has scored the most runs, 39, with Mari second, having 33.

Other St. Ann's batters over the .300 mark are "Lou" Sassi, .348; Frank Barbetta, .333; Joe Ciarella, .327; Chuck Klein, .305.

Dick Miller, of Atwoods, is leading the hurlers with a 7 and 2 mark, with Dave Muth, of the Bristol team, having a 6 and 2 mark. However, on Monday evening, Muth bested Miller in a game so the Bristol boy should be the leading hurler.

BORNICE PLEASED WITH GRID PROSPECTS

Coach "Pete" Bornice and his St. Ann's gridgers held a promising workout last evening on Memorial field. Over 20 candidates reported to the St. Ann's mentor who is looking forward to a fine season.

The local team will hold another session tomorrow evening at which time more candidates are expected to report.

The Northeast Conference is expected to be much stronger this season with several teams combining their strength. Tacony A. A. and Tacony Boys Club have combined and so has Willow Grove A. A. and the Willow Grove Vets. A new entry into the conference is Wissinoming.

RAIN HALTS GAME IN FIRST INNING

The St. Ann's-Trenton Pirates game was called in the first inning last evening at Trenton due to rain. St. Ann's had a runner on base in its initial turn with the stick when the downpour came.

The Pirates will meet the Michalski team this evening and is attempting to schedule the "Saints" for Thursday evening. Should it rain this evening or tomorrow evening, the St. Ann's team will capture the regular season crown as the season officially ends tomorrow evening.

TOO HOT TO WORRY ABOUT BILLS!

Especially when you can secure a Girard Plan loan so quickly and easily. Here's all you do—figure up how much money you'll need—$50, $100, $250 or more—and apply at your local Girard office.

Stop in, or, better yet, phone first and your money will be waiting when you come in.
